

HMRC Powers and Penalties The New Regime

As you will be aware, there is a significant change taking place in the approach which HMRC will be taking in dealing with enquiries into tax returns from 1 April 2009.

The changes involve potentially much higher penalties and also rights of access to your clients' business premises, amongst many others.

To help you understand the new regime and its implications we are running a programme of focussed two-hour courses

Presented by Mark Morton and Andrew Burgess, both ex-HM Inspectors of Taxes and with many years of practical experience, the course will consider the effects of the changes and cover both the legislation and HMRC guidance.

The Programme

22 June 2009 (1.30pm – 3.30pm)
Bristol Golf Club, Bristol

23 June 2009 (10.00am – 12.00pm)

Speakers

Andrew Burgess MA

Andrew joined Mercia in 2003 as an experienced tax lecturer and consultant. After 14 years with the Revenue, Andrew joined Neville Russell, which became Mazars following the merger in 1998. At the time of leaving he was senior tax partner in the firm and had overall responsibility for the running of the personal tax department. His expertise lies in the areas of employment taxation, investigation work, charity tax and personal tax planning.

Mark Morton BA ATII

Mark joined the Inland Revenue in 1988 and undertook their full training exams. At the time of leaving in 1997 he was Deputy District Inspector and has detailed experience of all types of Revenue enquiries. Mark joined Mercia as an experienced lecturer and now provides a wide variety of CPD training around the country. He is also a well known contributor to professional publications and provides technical consultancy to the accountancy profession.
